

PHOTO NEWS

Exposing the river beds

Extremely high temperatures and dry weather have caused river levels to drop throughout the southeastern state of Tabasco.

According to the National Water Commission, or Conagua, levels in the Rio Grijalva, seen at right, have fallen some 42 centimeters.

CUARTOSCURO/
MARCO POLO
GUZMÁN HERNÁNDEZ

Federal authorities seize, dismantle giant meth lab

Weekend police raid hospitalized

Forest fire shuts down

Alcaldes urge for quality